COLLEGEINVEST ANNOUNCES A REDUCTION IN FEES FOR ITS DIRECT PORTFOLIO COLLEGE SAVINGS PLAN

CollegeInvest's steady and sustained growth results in a continued trend of lower fees and higher college savings support for Colorado families.

Denver, CO —April 1, 2022 — CollegeInvest announced today that the administrative fees for its Direct Portfolio 529 college savings plan have been reduced from 0.31% to 0.29%, effective April 1, 2022. This is the second fee reduction for the Direct Portfolio plan in the last 8 months. Overall, fees have dropped more than 44% since its inception in 2009.

CollegeInvest's modest administrative fees are proportionate to the volume of savings held by Colorado families; the more they save, the lower the costs. CollegeInvest has been leading the industry in account growth for the past five years, resulting in lower fees and keeping more of the hard-earned savings of Colorado families for higher education expenses.

"CollegeInvest is committed to providing Colorado families with one of the lowest college savings fee structures in the country," said Angela Baier, CollegeInvest's chief executive officer. "Our continued trend of lowering fees helps make more of every savings dollar count for families who are already working hard to recover from the economic effects of the pandemic. Lower fees mean more money for higher education savings goals and long-term opportunity. "

Even through recent difficulties, Colorado families are saving as much as they can, and more than ever before, every dollar counts. The Direct Portfolio college savings plan has a long track record of maximizing savings by lowering fees at every opportunity, which aligns with the CollegeInvest mission to provide the very best value for every dollar saved.

CollegeInvest is Colorado's self-sustaining not-for-profit state agency which receives no taxpayer funding. 100 percent of CollegeInvest's costs are covered by low administrative fees. Working to bring the most effective college savings resources to Colorado families, CollegeInvest works closely with the agency's financial partners to provide the lowest fees possible, maximizing every dollar saved.

In addition to providing a variety of savings options for higher education, CollegeInvest also provides $1.3 million annually in direct financial support to Colorado's low and middle-income families with its Matching Grant Program and First Step, a child savings kickstarter program. These programs are operated independently of administrative fees charged and without any tax dollars. This additional support goes directly to the education savings of families who need it the most.

Based on the principle that saving for higher education is a vastly more effective strategy than borrowing, CollegeInvest is Colorado's trusted resource in breaking down the financial barriers to attaining a postsecondary education, whether through community college, vocational training, apprenticeship, or a four-year university. Savings can even be used for online learning. For more information, please visit us at collegeinvest.org
